Still he did not recollect his money; he thought only of his poor dog; and he said to himself, I would sooner have lost my money than my dog; and so he began to feel for his money, and he found he had lost it. 6. All at once, he thought that his dog had tried to tell him that he had lost the money. He turned his horse, and went off at full gallop to the place where he had stopped, and he found that his dog, all covered with blood, had crawled to the money bag, after he had been shot, and in the agonies of death lay watching beside it. 7. When he saw his master, he still showed his joy by the wagging of his tail. He could do no more. He tried to rise, but his strength was gone. He stretched out his tongue to lick the hand that was now fondling him in the agonies of regret. He then cast a look of kindness on his master, and closed his eyes forever. 1. radi ance foli age hermit age va n ance pil grim age pop u lace dal li ance vas sal age per son age ig no ranee av er age fer ri age ar ro gance bev er age par son age or di nance her i tage car ti lage y,...
